

Mission critical delivery : building a bridge for customer communications

We are currently scaling a solution we have built with a leading UK high street bank and by February 2018, over 5 million customers will be opening accounts via our platform. Within the same bank, we helped another team establish a customer interaction channel in 4 weeks in order to handle extremely sensitive client information under a strict regulatory oversight.

