HYPNOSIS TRAINING

The following scripts are fairly standard hypnotic inductions. These are the inductions we will be using in class regularly for group exercises. I ask that you take the time to commit them to memory.

Word for word memorization is not necessary as much as overall flow, feeling, and arrangement of the induction.

This will enable you to focus on technique, method, tricks and tools taught in class to improve your abilities rather than just reading words off of the page.

Whether you are completely new to hypnosis, or even a veteran hypnotist, I ask that you learn the following scripts:

Bucket And Balloon Induction Script

Eye Fixation Induction Script

Post Suggestion To Re-Hypnosis

Deepening By Progressive Relaxation

Awakening Procedure

There are reasons I find these to be the most powerful and useful for stage hypnosis, but don't worry. You will learn those reasons all in class, with many other techniques as well.

I look forward to getting to know you in class as you start your journey as a hypnotist. Thanks again for signing up!

See you in class!

HYPNOSIS TRAINING

Bucket And Balloon Induction Script

What I'd like you to do is take your right arm and put it straight out in front of you. Your right arm straight out in front of you, right up off of your lap. Now flip it over with your palm facing up... like you are accepting something... As if I would be placing an object in your hand, maybe a coin, a set of keys, something like that.

As you continue to focus and concentrate, I want you to imagine and create in your mind the next thing I'm about to describe to you. Imagine that I am walking up to your hand with a bucket; I'm placing the handle to that bucket across your open palm, with the bucket hanging underneath. I want you to curve your fingers inwards like you are holding on to the handle of this imaginary bucket. As you continue to focus and concentrate on this bucket, imagine and create that bucket in your mind.

Breathe in real deep, deep into your lungs. As you exhale, continue to focus and concentrate on that bucket. Imagine now that I'm walking up to your bucket with the end of a garden hose, placing the garden hose into the bucket, walking to the other end of the hose, turning on the tap, sending water through the hose and into the bucket; immediately the weight of the bucket begins to change.

You can feel the bucket getting heavier and heavier as you continue to focus and concentrate. If you can imagine that in your mind, your body can respond. You feel the bucket getting heavier and heavier and heavier. As you continue to focus and concentrate, that bucket is getting heavier and heavier and heavier but do not let the bucket go.

Continue to focus and concentrate on the bucket. As you feel it getting heavier and heavier and heavier. As you feel the water level beginning to increase, more water equals more weight, as the bucket is getting heavier and heavier and heavier. As the water level is getting closer to a quarter full, you feel it getting heavier and heavier and heavier than ever before.

As you feel that bucket continue to get heavier, I want you to take your left arm and put it straight out in front of you with your palm facing down; the exact opposite of your right hand. As you continue to focus and concentrate on the bucket, imagine and create now on your left hand that I've tied a string around your left wrist, and that string is attached to one hundred helium filled balloons. You begin to feel the balloons getting lighter and lighter. Lifting and rising, rising, and lifting. Soon that arm will be outstretched over your head as you feel the balloons getting lighter and lighter and lighter. Lifting and rising, rising and lifting.

MARC SAVARD

HYPNOSIS TRAINING

The bucket of water is getting heavier and heavier and heavier, the balloons are getting lighter and lighter and lighter. Space between your two arms begins to increase as the bucket's getting heavier and the balloons are getting lighter and lighter and lighter, lifting and rising, rising and lifting... getting lighter and lighter and lighter.

There's enough weight in your body to keep you on your chair. The balloons are getting lighter, the bucket is getting heavier and heavier and heavier. You can see the balloons in your mind's imagination... silver ones, black ones, purple ones. I can't possibly know, they're in your imagination.

Now we're going to double the balloons from one hundred to two hundred...getting lighter and lighter and lighter. Lifting and rising, rising and lifting, getting lighter and lighter and lighter.

As you continue to keep your eyes closed, drop both arms loosely to you lap right now. Good, let your arms relax. Breathe in real deep, deep in to your lungs as you exhale, continue to keep your eyes closed, drop your head comfortably forward. Let your chin rest down on to your chest; let your neck muscles relax. Allow your entire body to relax from the bottom of your feet right up to the top of your head.

MARC SAVARD

HYPNOSIS TRAINING

Eye Fixation Induction Script

Look up at the ceiling. Pick a spot on the ceiling; it could be a shadow, part of the ceiling, the fan, whatever you decide. Take a nice deep breath and fill up your lungs, letting the breath out slowly.

As you focus your attention on that spot, you will find that your eyelids are getting very heavy, very tired, very sleepy and very relaxed. And you will find that you want to close them.

Take a second and even deeper breath, filling your lungs completely, and exhale slowly.

Now, just as soon as you become aware of your eyes growing very, very tired, and very heavy, let me know by nodding your head "yes".

Now they're going to get even heavier than they are right now. When they become so heavy that they feel as if they were made of lead, marble or stone, and they want to close down, you'll find that you are able to enter the hypnotic sleep quickly, soundly, and deeply.

MARC SAVARD

HYPNOSIS TRAINING

Post Suggestion To Re-Hypnosis

Each and every time I suggest deep sleep to you, you will enter the hypnosis state quickly, soundly and deeply.

Each and every time you will go to this deep state of relaxation that you are in right now... you will return to this wonderful feeling... this deep relaxation that you're in right now... each and every time I say the word "sleep" now or in the future, your physical body will be very relaxed just as it is now... and deep asleep.

MARC SAVARD

HYPNOSIS TRAINING

Deepening By Progressive Relaxation

Focus your attention on your toes and your feet. You could become aware of a heavy feeling, like the unnatural weight of your shoes. Just become aware of your feet and your toes. Become aware of that certain sensation and follow it as it moves over the bottoms of your feet, your ankles, and your calf muscles. Feel them relaxing; become aware of your legs, relaxing.

The knees, the long thigh muscles, the hips... relaxing...

As you breathe in, breathe in relaxation; exhale tension... relaxing your abdominals and your chest muscles... Take another deep breath and relax even more.

Across the shoulders, the muscles turn loose... down the arms, your hands, and all the muscles in the neck and back now... relaxing.

And now the relaxation moves to the back of your head, across the top of your head, and your forehead... relaxing.

You're going deeper. Now your eyes, cheeks, and all the muscles in the face and jaw... relaxing.

And as you feel the jaw muscles growing loose and slack, the teeth not quite touching, you realize that from the tips of your toes, to the very top of your head, you are more relaxed than ever before.

Awakening Procedure

In a few moments, I will count upwards from zero to five. Five, as always, represents wide-awake, physically relaxed, emotionally calm and intellectually alert.

Zero... one... two... three... four... five...

Eyes open and wide awake!
